Monsanto Wants Your Questions: Go Ask!

Posted: 07/29/2013

I think it's worth it to give them a try, but I don't want to hear a re-hash of the standard industry line on these issues. Been there, read that. So I posted a question on a topic I've been wondering about for a long time, and which doesn't readily lend itself to spin: "One of the reasons for skepticism of GMO safety is that any negative results from safety trials can simply go unpublished. To what extent has that happened, and will you support full disclosure of all results?"
